

WHY GROUP PIANO?

SUCCESSFUL MUSICIANS

In group piano, ear and tempo training are automatic! Students easily learn to play through mistakes and are encouraged by their success and the success of their peers. They count aloud together, creating a more relaxed environment. This allows them to progress and strengthen their piano skills quickly.

EXCELLENT PRACTICERS

In group piano, students love learning with their friends. Each week they look forward to playing new songs together, which encourages practice at home. They enjoy showing each other what they've learned and inspire each other weekly!

ENSEMBLE & SOLO PERFORMANCE

In group piano, students learn how to perform in a group and as a soloist. They are excited to hear everything come together when learning new ensemble pieces and cheer each other on as they learn their solos. Group students rarely experience stage fright. They LOVE performing!

SUPPORTIVE ENVIRONMENT

Group piano students love coming to class week after week. They encourage each other, lift each other up, root for each other, and develop lasting friendships. As they learn piano together, they grow confidence, self-esteem, determination, positivity, and strong practice habits that will last a life time.
